

Source- Dr Tracey's land mapping- msa_scm 13086-0124 and msa_scm 13086-0130

[illegible]

Daniel Souders inherited a portion from Father-in-law Christian Bealer

*Add. to Pile's
Delight*

Add. to Pile's
delight

Hunting the Hare

Little I thought of it

Bad enough tract 1,2,3,and 4 next to Add. to Pile's delight and Fertile Grove

Fred.Co. Md. land records

To Henry Bitsell from Phillip
Jacob Studer Jan., 29th 1779. Tract of land known as Bad Enough

Clerk WR, Book 1, Page 288, 289

BAD ENOUGH patent

Patent Record BC and GS 27, p. 395
References next to Add. to Pile's delight

MD. State archives guide to public records

Note- Date: 11/08/1753
Plat: Patented Certificate 368
Description: Chaplin, Joseph;
Bad Enough, 136 Acres
Location: 01/25/04/008
MdHR No: 40011-2597/2671
MSA Citation: S1197-39

More on Joseph Chaplin

ARCHEOLOGICAL OVERVIEW, ASSESSMENT,
IDENTIFICATION, AND EVALUATION
STUDY OF
NEWLY ACQUIRED LANDS AT
ANTIETAM NATIONAL BATTLEFIELD
MARYLAND

In 1744 Joseph Chapline began patenting and purchasing several tracts in the vicinity of the Antietam Battlefield (Table 2). That year, he patented two additional tracts on the Potomac River, adjacent to his home farm of Rush Bottom. The first property, "Joseph's Choice," was a 100-acre parcel and extended Chapline's holdings slightly south along the Potomac. Later that year, Chapline also extended his holdings to the north by patenting 136 acres of vacant land. He named this northern parcel "Bad Enough." In 1747 he patented the 250-acre tract "Hunting the Hare," located just south of present-day Sharpsburg. Earlier that year, Chapline also purchased the adjacent property, "Abston's Forrest," a 150-acre tract originally patented by Francis Abston in 1742. Finally, in 1753, Joseph Chapline patented a 104-acre parcel called "Hopewell," located on the north end of the Antietam Battlefield (the Joseph Poffenberger Farm). Two years later he had Hopewell resurveyed, incorporating the vacant lands around the parcel and expanding it to 717 acres.

Fieldoria Manor
Frederick Md Land Records
1802-1803 WR 23, p.0063 MSA CE 108-43
Fieldoria Manor Phillip Sowder of Louden County Va. From Fielder Gant bought a tract called That's All lying in the area of a larger tract called Fieldoria Manor

*Coons Contrivance 1822 Coons, David 4Acers 1819 On Potomac R.
Opposite Harpers Ferry
Coons Island Coons, David 4Acers 1819 Island-Potomac bel. Harpers
Ferry near Va*

John Kunce - Wife: Magdalene. Children: James Kunce, John Kunce, David Kunce, Polly Kunce, Benjamin Kunce, Elizabeth Kunce, Henry Kunce, Matilda Kunce, George Kunce. Made 4 May 1818. Wit: Christian Bawer, Nicholas Dill, James Edwards. Proved 24 Aug 1818.